Eclisse began producing sliding pocket door systems in 1989 in its factory near Treviso in Italy and became an immediate success.

ABOUT US ECLISSE

This rapid success was based on highly innovative product design and advanced production techniques. Better products and better design quickly led to expansion throughout Europe where Eclisse has become the largest producer of these systems. Its aim is to develop a construction technology characterized by innovation and excellence of quality standards. It took more than 30 patents to make Eclisse frames revolutionise the way we think about sliding door systems. Doors slide effortlessly inside the wall, opening up the room and dramatically changing your perception of space.

for indoor systems

[e]Motion

[e]Motion is the new linear motor for Eclisse sliding pocket doors, ready to be inserted only into single door counterframes.

The magnetic technology applied makes it very silent and easy to install. The motor is already assembled with power supply and switch cables and ready to be inserted into the models Single.

Plug&play

Just connect the motor to the power supply (AC 230V) and operate the switch.

Self setting

The innovative electronic control system installed inside the track starts a self-setting process which senses passage size, weight and friction of the door, in order to set the opening-closing door cycle (speed and acceleration).

Adjustable

Once the self testing is finished, it is possible to modify the door opening speed, the opening time, and the sensitivity to obstacles.

Fitted as standard for the following functions:

Push&Go: through a light manual impulse on the door handle, the system starts an opening cycle automatically.

Automatic: an impulse from radar, switch or remote control opens the door completely. Once opened, the door closes automatically.

Open: selecting this mode, the door keeps opened. This function allows the manual opening of the door as well.

Manual: in case of power failure, [e]Motion works in manual mode. The absence of mechanical elements guarantees, however, a slight and silent movement.

[e]Motion fits:

- Eclisse SINGLE, LUCE single, UNILATERAL, EWOLUTO® single.
- Passage sizes for single doors: width from 700 to 1300 mm x height from 1000 to 2600 mm.
- Max door weight 80 kg (wooden or glass doors).
- Finished wall thickness starting from 100 mm.
- If used on an already installed pocket door, the passage height is reduced by approx. 20 mm.

Optional fittings:

- Remote control with receiver card.
- Active infrared sensor with variable detection area.
- Electromechanical block with remote control.

Eclisse meets the needs of its customers with experience, quality and technological innovation. Accurate machining and careful choice of components guarantee product durability. The product range offers a great number of exclusive items and has the right space / design solution for any room.
